

SAMSUNG C&T
Engineering & Construction Group

To Whom It May Concern:

The Corporate Communications Department of Samsung C&T is pleased to provide a reference for Literatim, a translation agency we have worked with for more than a year. Despite the complicated construction terminology and our high requirements to quality, we have found the services of Literatim to be competent.

The translations made by Literatim are always very professional and done in a timely manner. They can indeed deliver integrated services built on market insight which creates real value for its clients. Undoubtedly this is the company that provides top-notch quality and service, offering reasonable fees.

Samsung C&T would like to confirm our strong recommendation for Literatim as a good partner which provides a high quality translation service and look forward to our continuing fruitful collaboration.

Best regards,

Kristina Kim
Assistant PR Manager
Samsung C&T Corporation